

The International Indian Treaty Council invites Indigenous food producers, knowledge and rights holders to an Indigenous Peoples Multi-regional Virtual Consultation in preparation for the United Nations Food Systems Summit

Saturday May 29th, 2021

8:00PM-11:30PM Pacific Daylight Time (FIND YOUR TIME ZONE & DATE)

The United Nations Food Systems Summit will be convened by the UN Secretary General during the 76th session of the UN General Assembly Session in September 2021. It will bring together food producers, UN bodies and agencies and States to propose solutions to eliminate hunger and build sustainable food systems now and in the future. IITC has called for the full and effective participation of Indigenous traditional food producers (farmers, fishers, gatherers, hunters and pastoralists) to present their concerns, challenges and time-tested solutions for the resiliency and restoration of their food systems. Recently IITC was asked by Summit organizers to host a Global Consultation for Indigenous food producers to discuss recommendations for inclusion in the Summit's outcome document. We agreed in the hope that Indigenous food producers, practitioners, youth, elders and knowledge holders will come together to make their voices heard at this critical moment for the health and survival of the human family and the planet as a whole.

*The Consultation will be carried out in English, Spanish, French, Portuguese and Russian
A concept note and agenda will be available by May 20 in the above languages.*
